I'm creating a website for a non-profit organization focusing on mental health, mental health awareness and support. Three websites: Jack.org, CAMH, and the Canadian Mental Health Association – Toronto have the features and layouts of interest. My non-profit website will provide mental health resources, sections on common conditions such as substance abuse, anxiety, and depression. It will feature pages for meditation, yoga, and counseling services as support. It will also serve ways that individuals can get involved to support those in need.

The layout will have a navigation leading to various pages. Users will have the option to fill a Contact me form where a staff will reach out accordingly to their needs. It will show services offered, and ways to get involved, including a mission statement in the About Us page; my non-profit company's goal will be to provide a supportive, educative, and engaging space that guides people through their mental health journey and become part of a supportive community.
